

The high quality of Quagliotti linens in Blue Lagoon Iceland oasis of well-being and comfort

Iceland, a fascinating country characterized by strong contrasts, welcomes locations dedicated to hospitality immersed in constantly changing nature. Like Blue Lagoon Iceland that, for over thirty years, has been studying the benefits of thermal water through a research centre with a facility featuring a 62-room luxury hotel, a subterranean spa, a mineral-rich lagoon and two restaurants.

Quagliotti, already present in the most exclusive accommodations of the island, has recently supplied the bed linen for The Retreat, a resort located within the geothermal area of the Blue Lagoon.

The choice of a fine white fabric in pure cotton RASO perfectly harmonizes with the design of the suites and the surrounding landscape, giving guests the possibility to enjoy their stay as an experience of comfort and well-being all-round.

The quality of the weaving, the control and the sartorial care in the definition of each process, allow Quagliotti to create custom-made collections for clients all over the world: Royal Palaces, luxury hotels, institutions, restaurants.
